

R089-aa-Faith Flow Chart

Ask the focus person to identify, where they are at on the Faith Flow Chart below?

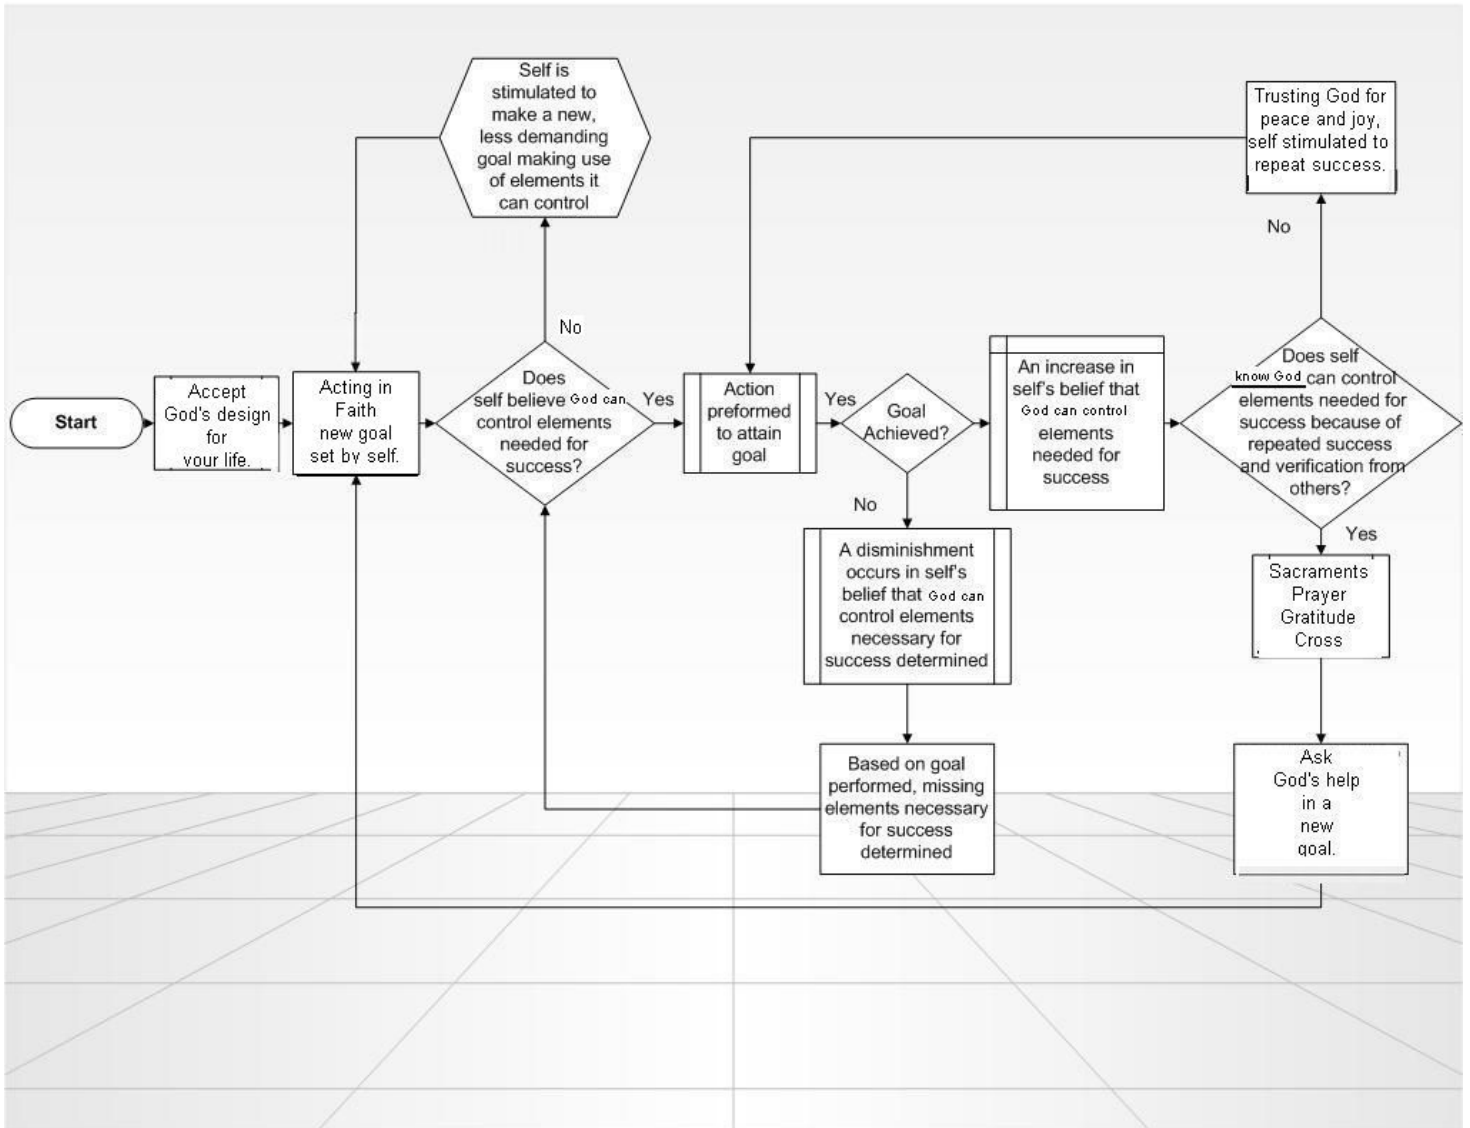

Exhibit A

With an atheist or an agnostic, read this aloud.

The term God may be used interchangeably with “That which you value the most for the common good,” or a “Caring presence outside of yourself.” Declaration does not get into differences of belief. Rather experience is shared as stories. Personal example is of paramount importance.

There are 3 levels of faith. They are:

- Level 1 - faith in our self,
- Level 2 - faith in our fellow man,
- Level 3 - faith in God, alternatively described as “That which we value the most for the common good,”

These three levels of faith. The first two levels may be more relevant to an atheist or an agnostic. They begin with personal beliefs. Wherever you are on these levels is fine.

As facilitator, you relate in the particular to the level of faith in the member before you. Speak their language. Get the group to learn to speak their language too. Everyone benefits. You need permission from no one to do good for everyone.

Take a look at the Faith Flow Chart. Where are you?

Use this whenever you are doing a focus person prep. It works for every agenda and gives you an insight into the focus person

Rely on the Loquate Resource page at Loquate.tv. Nothing will inspire you more than that which is most relatable to you. These levels may change over time. We must be open to the Spirit to hear the Spirit.