

Smart® Process

R148-am 4 hrs.

The Smart® Process measures vertical success of each Smart® group with 10 feedback questions summarized as one total number. For example all groups since 1/12/16 through 11/28/23 average 98% success. Feedback measures wellbeing of participants by satisfying 3 innate needs common to all mankind further resulting in happiness or joy for the individual member and increased sense of community for each small group of which they are a part. Identity experience evaluation shows a single experience or series of experiences by members within the Smart® group, that is what we call ourselves, as satisfying our innate needs and the innate needs of all around us. We conform to the ideal of Loquate's mission statement as active members, as well as making us happier or more joyful thru the relevant resolution stories we share.

That is success.

We seek an interdependence based on Spirit-centered community by changing ourselves and no one else. By Spirit we mean a caring presence that exists outside of ourselves. Makes where you work, a best place to work. Makes where you live, a best place to live. Like a trade school over time, we own the experience. Begin by learning and following the 3s Process Training Video and this Interfaith Dialogue Short Form.

Once you own the experience, feedback scores demonstrate Smart® group members get happier. The far goal is a culture of happiness or joy for the member and increased sense of Spirit-centered community in every group of which the member is a part.

Principles of Interfaith Dialogue

- Interfaith dialogue is first and foremost an attitude that is acquired as the result of listening to various points of view and ultimately forming one's own view of other religions. An attitude could be defined as a manner of acting or thinking; a disposition, opinion or mental set.
- Interfaith dialogue consists essentially in hearing each other. Interfaith dialogue is living together in spite of our differences. Differences make sense when they are well understood. Be respectful of differences.
- Avoid proselytizing during interfaith dialogue. Be true to your beliefs. State your own beliefs when appropriate.
- But mainly listen well, which means hearing an entire message.
- Build unity. Be united in faith in God, for love of fellow man, for peace on earth, and for the greater glory of God.
